SATURDAY, AUGUST 13, 1881.

MINNESOTA is like Maud S .- it only re-

THE IRISH CONVENTION at Chicago is understood to have come to grief over the accounts. The Fenian books rarely do add up right. The addition in the oratory, and the subtraction by the orators makes it hard to strike a balance.

THE COMMUNITY in general will be startled and pained to learn that a Pawnee settlement has been burned in Kansas. Murat Halstead has started a one cent subscription list for the benefit of the wigwambereaved braves. At least we hope he has.

THE MAIN BUILDING of the Centennial has just been sold. It has been purchased by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company for $97,000. Its original price was nearly $2,000, 000. We helped to build that Centennial building and feel cheap that the qualification of circumstances should have so lowered it in the public estimate.

OUR JOURNALISTIC friend and neighbor has at last come out in its true colors: the sign-board topping off the Republican building now reads the "National 'Publican." We always knew that our brilliant brother was a publican and a sinner, and while admiring its honesty, are compelled to classify its frankness as among those commodities that are not worth a dime.

THE Chicago News is worried because the "great West is kept in an unhealthy state of excitement continually. What with waterspouts, hurricanes, tornadoes, cyclones, typhoons, monsoons, local elections, county defalcations, train robberies, murders and lynchings, it is a pretty difficult matter for the settler to keep his balance intellectually, physically or morally." Those are things of small importance. About all we care about in this part of the country is to keep our financial balance.

THE LATEST bulletin from the White House to-day is far from encouraging. In an editorial of some few days since THE CRITIC undertook to show what great risk there was in expecting the President to thrive under a pulse of 106 to 110 and a temperature high in proportion. He is living now at a rate no patient, however robust his constitution may be, could long endure. This morning he was taken with an attack of fever, called slight, but the fact that it came in the early part of the day gives cause to apprehend that another pus cavity may be forming. Can his strength endure all these drains? Let it be remembered that to-morrow is the fatal seventh day We all devoutly hope for the best, but hope can scarcely help being mingled with fear ARKANSAS being just across the line from Mississippi, no doubt the following from the ready for war should that ever befall. Little Rock Gazette will be accepted as reasonably official. In speaking of the recent ship already most of the nurses who were elections in Mississippi, it says that "the active during the war. Physicians, men result may be considered a permanent overthrow of the extreme element of the party it is confidently expected that a great and led by Major Barksdale. Governor Stone represented progress, political and material. good work will eventuate from this action of a few women who are banded together. Major Barksdale belongs to the moss-backs, the reactionists, whose influence is being so rapidly circumscribed in all portions of the South, and who, though true men and good "cemocrats, are unable to comprehend that the world moves." If the New York Tribune will kindly allow its orbs to rest on this statement for a few minutes, and then be honest enough to confess that the South shows some symptoms of progress, a great point will be gained.

SOME INTERESTING STATISTICS have just been published about the rise of wages in France between 1853 and 1877. During the last quarter of a century bread has remained without much alteration in price. Wine is somewhat dearer. House rent, both in Paris and the larger towns, is distinctly higher. Clothing is cheaper. On the whole, the statement appears to show that the condition of the working classes has not worsened during the period under consideration. The increase in pay during the period named has been from 32 to 74 per cent, as the extremes, with from 50 to 60 per cent, as means. The pay of women has increased in the same ratio as that of men. The largest increases have been in the instances of butchers, bakers, carpenters, boot-makers, slaters, hair-dressers, sawyers, navvies, weavers. The average rate of increase has been 52 per cent, for men and 51 per cent. for women.

THE OUTLOOK in Virginia continues to be manifestly mixed. The Readjusters are certain of victory in expression and certain of defeat at heart. The Funders are much in the same order of expression, but as far as the governorship is concerned are in better trim to accomplish success.

It is not at all unreasonable to anticipate a mixed victory and commingled defeat. As THE CRITIC said last week, the chances are in favor of Daniel for governor, but the re-mainder of the ticket will be mixed. The Republican element at heart understand that it is more a Mahone fight, individually, to humiliate by defeat the Straight-oute, than a fight where Republicanism is actually interested, honce there will be a swift undertow against him and his ticket. The proffers of assistance tendered by Wickham, Dezendorf and Jorgensen to the Readjuster ticket are precisely so much poppycock. The bitterest opponents in the Democratic ranks to Mahone are not half as bitter and emphatic as those three gentlemen. Mahone hates them and they hate Mahone, and the entire quartet are cognizant of the mutual batred existent among them all. They may on the surface essay to enact the part of friends, and try to do so pleasantly, but their mutuality of friendship is nothing other than poison strained through a silk handkerchief and served up under a specific tively engaged in the Christian and Sanitary Commissions during the war have never been fully reconciled to the disbanding of those associations at the close of the terrible contest which called them into existence and activity. The immense leverage given mains for her to beat herself, and this to benevolent work by unanimity of purshe does this year by going one and a-half pose and concert of action was effectually million bushels of wheat better than last demonstrated, and it has been strongly felt by the persons alluded to that instead of disbanding it would have been better to have erganized on a permanent basis, in order to be ready for the many public emergencies calling for benevolent action which, in a great country like ours, occur in times of peace. Of this number were the ladies whose names appear as organizers of the National Relief Association, viz: Mrs. R. B. Hayes, Mrs. James A. Garfield, Mrs. Morrison R. Waite, Mrs. Gabriel Kent, and their associates, besides many other who are giving evidence of their convictions and interest by forming auxiliary ssociations in a number of the States. Additional impetus was given to the forces acting on the minds of the projectors of the relief associations by the state of things, some terrible and some shameful, which has existed when occasions of pestilence have occurred calling for public help. In the winter of 1880, after much previous consideration, the initial steps were taken for organizing a National Association which should, by means of auxiliary and subauxiliary societies, band together the benevolent people of the country; have in roadiness for use in case of any public necessity therefor whatever sanitary aid either of personnel or material, might be required; and such a perfect system of action that the resources of the association and the gifts of the people should be assured of honest, economical and efficient application. It was decided to commence the existence of the organization with practical work, taking that up which lay first at hand, and holding itself ready to assume other responsibilities as they should arise. The condition of the U.S. Life-saving stations, devoid of all comforts whatever for the use of surfmen in the care of those whom they had rescued from the sea, had wrought on the pity of the ladies, and they agreed that to remedy this eyil should be their first work. In token of this initial effort, they assumed the Blue Anchor as their badge. An auxiliary association was formed in New York as soon as the national organization was shape; another soon followed in this District; then one in Massachusetts; one is being organized in Ohio, another in Connecticut, and other States are falling into

> Much has lately been said about the desirability of organizations of benevolence for readiness of action in times of war. The members of the National Relief Association anticipate all such necessity by being ready for the calamities which befall in times of peace. Ready with stores of clothing and provisions, funds of money, corps of physicians, nurses and whatever is needed in times of disaster and pestilence, they are Always on the Spot.

Always on the Spot.

The Wa-hington Cautic disparages the White House bulletin; and insists that Mr. Garfield is worse than represented. It calls attention to the fact that no Cabinet officer has been permitted to see him since the 2d of July; that only fourteen adult persons have been admitted to his chamber; that he has lost fifty pounds of flesh, and that his pulse has been as high as 104 when his physicians claimed that he was free from fever. The Cautic is published right in the heart of Washington city, and is in a position to know some things.

Revenge is Sweet.

Chicago Times.

The man whom Roscoe Conkling once publicly characterized as a "man-milliner," and who sat with meckness under the epithet, subsequently honoring the train of Roscoe in order to help save the party, is getting in his revenge now, that Conkling is down. He even says that Roscoe was never much of a man anyhow.

Not Room Enough.

At Boston dinner parties it is the latest wrinkle to place a large clam shell at each plate, within which is painted an original verse written by the hostess. Some British tourist will now write home that Boston ladies put their feet on the dinner table.

Mixed Verdiet.

Needs a Stronger Weapon. Cleveland Herald.

The Ohio State Journal says that Jack Falstaff was a Democrat. If any of Falstaff's surviving relatives desire opportunity to vindleate his memory, the columns of the Herald are at their disposal.

An Unpalatable Remedy.

Philiadelphia Times.

Up in the huckleberry region the pickers use raw onlons and neat whisky as an anti-dote for rattlesnake bites. Most people would prefer to be bitten and take the chances.

Stimulus Gone.

Atlanta Constitution.

Editor Hay, of the New York Tribune, appears to regard Judge Black as a one-horse trattor. The language of Editor Hay would have been more pointed, but the beer saloon has been moved out of the basement.

Spare Us from Our Friends The Chicago Tribune rushes to the defense of Senator Bayard with fiendish glee. Joe Modili knows full well that the fact will causegreat pain among Mr. Bayard's friends and acquaintances.

A Job for Whittaker. The verdict in the Whittaker case is another severe blow at the moral status of the Republican party. As Whittaker is an expert in trimming cars, he should set up a shop and work on some of his fellow-voters.

Cause for Divorce.

Beneath a shady tree they sat;
He held her head, she held his hat
They kissed—I saw them do it.
He held that kissing was no crime;
She held her head up every time;
I held my peace and wrote this rhyme,
While they thought no one knew it.
